OCEAN TO OCEAN WILL BE LINKED

VOL. XXI. NO. 149

Rockefeller Standard Oil Sys-* tem Projected

Single Illutus Between Defroit and Chleago Will Be Filled in Short

ONLY ONE LINE IS LONGER.

Washington, D. C., June 22 .-With only a gap from Toledo or Detrolt to Chicago to be fliled, the Standard Off company has completed its nian of securing a transcontinental line that will extend from ocean ture yesterdny, 92; lowest today, 68. to ocean and be the longest stretch of railroad in the world, with the singie exception of the Siberlan railway. Various lines constitute the Standard control, and if the unnouncement of II. II. Rodgers is verified the single hiatus lu the system between Detroit and Chicago, will be bridged before many more duys have passed.

The proposed transcontinental system will make the Rockefolier coterie ns absolutely dominant in the railroad linancial quarters as they now are in the oil industry.

The new system will be composed of the following roads, which will, according to statementa made in Washington on the highest authority, soon be welded together luto a transcontinental system:

The Virginia raliway (commonly known as the Tidewater and Deepwater), from Norfolk, Va., into West Virginia, and soon to be connected with the river.

The Dotroit, Toledo and Ironton, extending from Ironton, Ohio, on tho Ohio river, north and west across Ohio and Michigau,

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, from Chicngo and Mliwankee west to the Pacific coast,

The system, when completed, while huve a main line mileage of about 3,-700 miles from ocean to ocean.

SOMEBODY THROWS GLASS TO PUNCTURE AUTO TIRES.

The automobile clab is preparing to do a little detective work to learn the identity of persons, who have heen breaking glass on streets During the past week many broken botties and window giass bavo been strewn about the streets in all parts of the city, but particularly on the streets most frequented by automobiles. While it is not charged open ly that glass is broken to puncture tires, it is generally understood that this is the purpose of those respansible for the presence of tho ginss. A city ordinance makes it a misde meanor to throw glass on the streets and it is more than likely that auto mobilists will prosecute vigorousi, any person found guilty of the act.

CHAPTER VIII. T was 4 o'clock in the afternoon of a the Lut chilly March day when Philip regained Holborn with £50 making a lump in his pocket and Isaacsteln's letter safely lodged in his coat. The mere weight of the gold suggested an unplensant possibility. His clothes were so worn that the frall called hilght give way and every golden coln ratile forth to the pavement. So with one of Mr. Ablugdon's shillings he made his tirst purchase, a eapaclous tobacco pouch with a suap mouth, for which he pald ninepence. Then he adjourned to an aerated bread shop and ordered some refreshments. While the waltress was bringing his cup of tea and plece of cake he contrived to slip all the sovereigns but one into the tobacco ponch. He did this with his hand in the pocket Itself, and more than once there was a pleasant clink as the coins fell into their navel receptacle.

A man slitting near enoght the sound and looked up susplciously. Philip. whose senses were very anich on the alert today, realized that his action was somewhat careless. Without even glaneing at his neighbor, he took out ils remaining couple of shillings and the three pennies, and affected to count them with a certain degree of astonishment, as if some were missing. The ruse was satisfactory. The man gave him no further heed and soon quitted ed. "Jump in." the restaurant.

Philip tendered the odd soverelgu in payment of his bill. The girl cashler seemed to be surprised that such a ragged youth should own so large a

"All silver, please," said Philip, when he began to count bls change.

He would take no more risks if he ould avoid them. Not a single policenan in London would have falled to crest him at that moment were his tore of gold revealed by any chance Yet Philip was rich honestly, and there vere men driving away from the city at that hour whose banking accounts vere plethóric with stolen money. For helr carringes the policemen would top the trattle. In neither instance and the guardians of the peace be held blameworthy, such is the imporfance of mere appearances.

The hoy, during his short and terribly sharp tussle with London life, had already grasuel this essential fact, and, with great skill and method, he set about the task of altering his own clothes shop. Here he purchased a on shirt for 2 shillings and a linea collar for threepence.

"Confound That Pen!

It spurts and catches, blots and scratches. It is simply no good; that's all."

UNDREDS of users say this about the ordinary steel pens. If they would use our No 97 Hunt pens, with rounded point, one trial would convince them that these pens are the 'best in the world "

OUR SPECIAL OFFER UNTIL SEPTEMBER 1st

Buy a box (12 dozen) for 50c. Give them a trial-use a dozen or two dozen of them, and if you are not fully satisfied, bring back what you have left of them and exchange them for a full box of any other kind of pen.

Isn't this fair to you?
